Description of Change: This advisory is being provided to you as an announcement that due to the fire accident on 2023/1/6 afternoon at Welnew Wuxi factory (China), the plating subcon of Vishay Siliconix, it's expected the delivery interruption on specific part types, including TSOP-6, TO-236 (SOT-23), SO-8, PowerPAK 1212-8, Thin PowerPAK 1212-8, PowerPAK SO-8, and 1206-8 ChipFET. The detail part list of each package is attached in the following pages of this advisory.

Currently all the production activities in Welnew Wuxi plant have been suspended. Vishay Siliconix is cooperating closely with Welnew to restart the alternative production line in Welnew Shanghai. The necessary equipment setup and qualification is estimated to take up to 5 months to get completed and ready for the normal production in May, 2023.

During this period, we expect the delivery interruptions in January and February while these could be caught up by the end of March this year based on current assessment status. Before Welnew Shanghai being ready for production, Vishay Tianjin plant will offer the support as the alternative backup plating site to minimize the impact as more as possible.

All the migration plans are kick off and on-going already, including the restart of Welnew Shanghai plant and the alternative plating process in Vishay Tianjin plant. Please do not hesitate to contact us if you have any questions or need further information.

Classification of Change: Alternative Plating Site Adoption

Expected Influence on Quality/Reliability/Performance: There will be no effect on quality, reliability, performance, and the min/max values in the datasheet.
